

Gateway's Head of School Search: Updates, the Faculty Advisory Committee, & Dedicated Webpage

May 19, 2025

Dear Gateway Community,

Thank you for your participation last month in the initial and crucial phase of our Head of School search. Your engagement was invaluable as John Farber of RG175 met with various members of our Gateway community, and we received thoughtful and insightful feedback through the comprehensive survey many of you completed. This input has been instrumental in enabling the search firm to develop a robust and compelling position statement that articulates the goals and unique opportunities for Gateway's next Head of School. We encourage you to review the full statement, which can be found here.

Over the past few weeks, RG175 has been diligently gathering a strong pool of resumes from highly qualified candidates. This process will continue over the coming months and your continued involvement remains vital. If you are aware of exceptional leaders whose experience and vision align with the qualities outlined in the position statement, I welcome you to put forward their names by emailing the Head of School Search Committee directly at headsearch@gatewayschool.org. Your personal recommendations can significantly broaden our reach and help us identify truly outstanding individuals.

I am also pleased to announce the formation of our dedicated Faculty Advisory Committee, comprised of esteemed members of Gateway's faculty and staff. This committee will play a vital role in assisting both the Head of School Search Committee and RG175 throughout this important process, providing invaluable insights.
